FINAL CALL FOR BAND APPLICATIONS AT NEWTOWN FESTIVAL

Newtown Festival is the annual fundraiser for the Newtown Neighbourhood Centre (NNC), and is one of Sydney's most beloved events. Right now it's putting out a final call for the best up-and-coming acts to fill its famously fresh, eclectic and talented line-up.

Band applications are open now at www.newtownfestival.org, or click here. Applications close next Friday, the 31st July, so get in quick!

Previous bands to have played at the renowned community event include Sticky Fingers, Thundamentals, Sarah Blasko, Sparkadia, Josh Pyke, Hermitude, The Preatures and more.

Having won the title of 'NSW Best Community Event' at the Australian Event Awards last year, as well as 'Best Music Event' at the FBi Radio SMAC awards, Newtown Festival has established a reputation for its trailblazing live entertainment. Each year over 90,000 people come together to experience its smorgasbord of music, food, the arts and grassroots creativity.

The festival is a proud supporter of emerging talent, and is once again seeking expressions of interest from bands and solo artists, as well as other performers such as poets, dancers and acrobats.

Don't forget that the winner of the Sydneyvision Song Contest is guaranteed a spot on the festival bill – you can enter at <http://www.sydneyvision.org>.

Newtown Festival is set to be held on Sunday the 8th November, at its annual home in Camperdown Memorial Rest Park. Applications close on the 31st July, and can be found on the Festival website at www.newtownfestival.org.

Newtown Festival is presented annually by the Newtown Neighbourhood Centre, raising funds to support the invaluable work it does with the local community. Entry donations from attendees go directly towards programs at the Centre, providing services for vulnerable and disadvantaged people.
